THE BATTLE FOR GERMANY, which for a time appeared likely to take place at the Rhine, has actually begun in the Siegfried line and watery Holland and will be decided there.

That the Germans can take another terrible beating and yet retain once more in sufficient strength for any real further stand appears unlikely.

Reports from Arnhem sound grim. Our troops are reported surrounded by a bitterly determined enemy. But they were trained for just such fighting. The Allied commanders have yet to blunder in western Europe. This morning's news that all airborne units south of Arnhem have linked up with the British is a strong indication that the battle to turn the northern end of the Siegfried line is still going, as the generals love to put it, "according to plan."

The Germans are fighting to save themselves in the very territory where they began the total war in May, 1940.

Two plans of action, which may merge, seem to be open to the Allies. Holding tremendous German forces by strong attacks south of Holland, everything else can be thrown into an invasion of northwestern Germany, across the coastal plains to envelop the great German ports as those of France and the low country coasts have been enveloped. That would be the Russian system, with truly decisive blows farther south held in reserve.

On the other hand, the Allied campaign has developed to oversimplify, almost like three separate wars. They may have the strength to continue that way.

The Seventh army on the extreme right flank has conducted its own private invasion, has cleared

U. S. SECURITY TALK MAPPED BY GOV. DEWEY

Republican Candidate in San Francisco; Calls for "Housecleaning"

By JACK BELL
ENROUTE WITH DEWEY TO SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—A federal government housecleaning that would put "people who have lived close to the people" in administrative posts was proposed today by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as his campaign train headed toward San Francisco and a third major west coast speech tonight.

With a stop planned in Oakland for a reception with California's Gov. Earl Warren and mayors of bay cities, the Republican presidential nominee scheduled a round of conferences with organization leaders before he speaks at 8:00 p. m. Pacific War time (NBC) at San Francisco's civic auditorium.

The New York governor has announced he will "discuss a whole new approach to the relationship between the government of the United States and its people." He supplemented this during a train stop at Eugene, Ore., yesterday by calling for "the biggest, the finest and the most complete housecleaning in history" in Washington.

People of the People
Then, he said, it would be the purpose of a new Republican administration to install in federal posts "people who have lived close to the people and who know their problems, who do not go to Washington for the purpose of telling 130 million people that they know better how to run their lives than the people do themselves."

A crowd of about 2,000 persons applauded with cries of "we can do it" when Dewey said his party's aim was to "get a new administration, a Republican Congress and a Republican senate."

"Then," he said, "with the establishment of a government of sound principles which believes in our future, which wants to create jobs and to go forward, we can wipe out the dismal years of the New Deal. We can forget the regimentation and the slow shipping towards a totalitarian economy. We can go forward again, a free and a united people, to better and happier days than this country has ever seen."

In a stop at Klamath Falls, Ore., Dewey told a crowd of about 1,000 persons at the railroad station that all the west needs is "a national government that says go to it and here will be jobs for all."

He called for a cabinet that "wholly represents the people of the United States and does not forget large sections of the United States."

Masonic Officials At Lodge Session

Approximately 300 Masons from this district attended a meeting of Perry lodge No. 185, F. & A. M., last night in the temple at Grand Master Alpheus A. Stephens of Cleveland was principal speaker.

Grand Orator Raymond A. Younger of Selma, a past grand master, nine district deputy grand masters and 25 present masters attended the session which followed a dinner served by members of the Eastern Star chapter. About 200 persons attended the dinner.

Master Mason degree work was conducted by the district deputies for a candidate from Perry lodge, headed by Master Ned Massa. E. M. Jenkins, district deputy was in charge of arrangements.

A past Masters night observance was planned for Oct. 18 when past masters of Perry lodge will conduct initiatory work.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 4.

GAS STATION MEN PROTEST TO OPA

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—While Office of Defense Transportation officials checked a 450,000 gallon discrepancy between their records and reports of truck companies, gasoline station operators in this area today demanded the government "proceed against counterfeit passers instead of dealers."

Hoyt Crooks, ODT chief enforcement attorney, last night disclosed 75 cases of clear-cut discrepancies between combined ODT and Office of Price Administration officials and records and vehicle operators.

A. P. Ripich, executive secretary of the Cleveland Association of Petroleum Dealers, told Frederic S. Glover, OPA hearing commissioner, "you're prosecuting the acceptor of the coupons, not the passer."

The tremendous air superiority of the Allies is symbolized by the apparently endless chain of Flying Fortresses in the photo above. They are not yet in combat—just replacements for the Army's 8th Air Force bombers which are blasting fleeing Nazis. Note comparative size of truck, in circle.

CAPTURE OF PELELIU NEAR

Japs Make Bitter Last Ditch Stand; Angaur Lost To Yanks

(By Associated Press)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 21.—American invasion of the Palau has cost the Japanese the small island of Angaur, most of Peleliu and 7,645 lives, but Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported last night "the enemy resistance is bitter" on Peleliu.

The Nimitz communique spoke of "slow progress being made" in heavy fighting by the First Marine division on Peleliu, where the invasion of the vital Palau line of defenses started a week ago today. The Japanese had the advantage of rocky, timbered elevations.

A more optimistic report came from the battle scene last night in a Blue network broadcast by Webber Edwards, representing the combined American networks, covering one day more of fighting than encompassed in the official communique. Edwards said the Marines have won all but a small strip on the northeast coast of Peleliu.

The announcement of 7,645 Japanese killed on Peleliu and 600 on Angaur came after a communique told of the virtual conquest of the latter, where only mopping up action remained for the 81st army division.

The casualty estimate for Peleliu covered virtually three-fourths of the estimated 10,500 enemy on the island when the invasion was launched. Officers on Peleliu described its rocky, cave-pocked terrain as the worst yet encountered in the drive westward across the Pacific.

A small, unnamed island off the northeast corner of Peleliu was occupied by the Marines without any report of resistance.

Hitting again at the inner rim of Japanese defenses, Liberator bombers from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command poured installations in the Davao area, at the southern end of the Philippines, with 120 tons of bombs. Many explosions and fires were reported. There was no interception.

A new airfield was reported started on Angaur. The invasions of Peleliu and Morotai, in the Molucca Islands west of New Guinea, provided ready-made airstrips for the Allied forces. Small planes were reported already using the Peleliu field, and the Morotai field, 300 miles south of the Philippines, presumably has been put into shape.

New Waterford Boy, 13, Is Stricken With Polio

NEW WATERFORD, Sept. 21.—Leonard Sheerer, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheerer, is ill with a disease diagnosed as infantile paralysis—the first such case in this village.

A physician termed the case "polio" and arrangements are being made to transfer the youngster to the Children's hospital in Akron.

The boy attended school for a few days last week, then became ill with what was believed to be a cold.

Race Against Time To Keep China In War Now Serious

400,000 Casualties Latest U. S. Figure, Stimson Announces

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—War casualties of the United States armed forces now exceed 400,000. Secretary of War Stimson said today Army casualties reported through Aug. 29 were 337,743. The latest Navy casualty list totals 63,017.

The new Army figure was an increase of 10,127 over that announced a week ago, but only about half the rate of increase in recent weeks. The drop apparently reflected a comparative lull in fighting between the break-through from the Normandy and Brittany areas, and the resumption of heavy fighting as Allied forces neared the German border.

Army casualties, together with figures for the previous week, follow: Killed, 64,468 and 62,357; wounded, 177,235 and 172,042; prisoners, 48,725 and 48,181; missing, 47,315 and 45,036.

Navy casualties: Killed, 25,152 and 24,450; wounded, 23,676 and 23,064; missing, 9,532 and 9,520; prisoners, 4,466, unchanged from previous week.

East Palestine Man's Death Is Ruled Suicide

EAST PALESTINE, Sept. 21.—George Paxton Gasky, 57, an oiler at the Fred S. Geer Coal Co. here, was found dead, in his home late yesterday when a fellow employee, Richard Bird, who was sent to discover the reason for his two days' absence from work.

Coroner Arnold Devon ruled suicide and said Gasky had cut his throat. He is believed to have been dead since Monday. Neighbors told police he talked often of financial troubles.

Born June 15, 1887, he was the son of the late Thomas and Martha Thompson Gasky and had spent most of his life in East Palestine. He was a member of the United Presbyterian church.

He is survived by two brothers, John of East Palestine and Glenn of Lima.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Van Dyke funeral home. Burial will be in the Glenview cemetery.

BREST SHOWS DAMAGE FROM AIR ASSAULTS

Port Is Picture of Desolation; U. S. Engineers Commence Work

By BARBARA WACE

BREST, Sept. 18.—(Delayed)—A few French civilians trudged back into captured Brest today, pushing wheelbarrows filled with mattresses or riding in carts. But there was nothing to come back to in this great port city, a picture of desolation and ruin with a majority of its buildings demolished by terrific aerial and naval bombardment during the Allied siege.

A dispatch from Allied headquarters last night, which announced the fall of Brest after 46 days of siege, said headquarters sources refused to speculate on whether Allied salvage crews would be put to work on the port at once. Censored dispatches from Brest contained no information on damage to port facilities.

Lt. Gen. Herman Rameke, commander of the crack German paratroopers who had been holding the port, left to his subordinates the formalities of surrender.

German prisoners interviewed as they walked through the streets said Rameke had not been seen for several days. There were reports he had fled either by submarine or plane.

24 Hour Shelling

Brest fell at 3 p. m. after a final 24 hours of terrible artillery bombardment. Swarms of Nazi naval personnel, paratroopers, and merchant navy men began emerging from the famed submarine pens.

"There are thousands of them in there," said one U. S. lieutenant. "I don't know how we can cope with them. They're all coming out with their suitcases—ready to go."

We moved into one pen, past rooms filled with scattered German belongings. The narrow pen opened into the bay (30 words censored). Like the others, this pen had a 15-foot reinforced concrete roof. There was a gaping hole, however, in the roof, with steel girders hanging down.

One Nazi said the damage had been caused by a British raid in June.

The officers' dormitories held a motley collection of implements of war—bayonets, grenades and small full dress jeweled naval daggers.

On the way out we entered one of the underground hospitals. The patients looked desperately bad.

Salem School Board Gets $17,800 Check In Ohio Distribution

Salem school officials today received a check for $17,800 from the state director of school finance as the city's share of the recent appropriation by the Ohio legislature of additional funds to be used "in payment of salaries of teachers and other school employees."

Passed at the recent special session of the state legislative body, the school appropriation amounted to a total of $8,800,000, to be distributed to school districts in accordance with their 1943 pupil daily average attendances.

Although the money is here, Supt. E. S. Kerr said no statement as to the method of distribution among Salem school employees could be made. He said the matter was one for the decision of the board of education and would be taken up at the board's next meeting Oct. 2.

Distribution in surrounding city districts is yet undecided but some schools have arranged the payment of the money. Steubenville school teachers are to receive $20 additional for eight months, beginning Oct. 1. The raise there will be effective for eight months of the term and a $10 raise will be in force for the final month. This means a raise of $170 per employee.

East Liverpool officials, in receipt of a check for approximately $38,000, plan to distribute their money to teachers and school employees in two payments, one at the end of the first half of the year and another at the end of the school year. Estimates place the increase at about $202 per employee.

Lisbon schools received $7,296, but distribution has not been decided.

Speed Relief To Troops In Arnheim Trap

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 21.—British tank troops and Allied sky soldiers have captured intact the mile and half-long Nijmegen bridge in a raging 24-hour battle in Holland. They thus broke down a path to the relief of a pocket of air-borne troops locked today in a grim fight for life near Arnheim, eight miles to the north.

The Germans counter-attacked by land and bombing from the air in a desperate attempt to save their historic river defense line, but some of the western front's hottest fighting virtually set the seal of doom on perhaps 100,000 enemy troops caught in western Holland.

The whole fate of the Germans' Ruhr valley and the safety of their entire northern flank was turning on the outcome of this first victory and the unfolding of a second battle about to take place for control of the crossings of the northern branch of the Dutch Rhine at Arnheim.

As Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's armor raced across the Waal, largest branch of the Dutch Rhine, toward the north, units of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's first Allied air-borne army—believed to be Americans—apparently were hanging on grimly to positions astride the doorstep of the Ruhr.

BIGGEST TANK BATTLE FOUGHT

U. S. Third Army Fights Three-Day Duel With Nazi Armored Units

By WES GALLAGHER
ALSACE-LORRAINE, Sept. 21.—Adolf Hitler has thrown in a large portion of his armored forces against the United States Third army and for three days this armored force has been engaged in the greatest single tank battle since the landings in France.

The battle has seen the destruction of 105 Nazi tanks.

As this is being written on a box of bazooka shells, American artillery shells are whistling overhead at a number of Mark VI Tiger and Mark V Panther tanks dug in near Bures, 18 miles northeast of Nancy.

From there an irregular battle line is active in a wide area north to points near Chateau-Salins.

But there is no regular line of tanks. Both forces range many miles on both sides of these lines in sorties.

Much of the mobile forces at the disposal of the German army has been thrown recklessly into battle. Many of the destroyed Tiger tanks dotting the battle area had just had their numbers painted on them in the factory.

Enemy Resists Bitterly
It is the first time the Germans have committed their armor in this strength since the fighting at Caen in Normandy.

Battling the Panzer veterans, some from the Russian front, are young American tankmen who have given more than they have taken but who have not come out unscathed.

Their losses in yesterday's fighting were among the highest the unit has suffered in a single day.

RECOVER TWO CARS, ARREST 2 YOUTHS

Two stolen cars, belonging to I. W. Nash of Damascus and Mrs. S. Dolinar, R. D. 1, Salem, were recovered in Massillon yesterday by police who are holding two Massillon youths, one 16 the other 17 in connection with the thefts.

Nash's car is in good condition police say, but Mrs. Dolinar's auto was abandoned by the two youths after they had crashed into a pole.

Massillon police reported that the boys as confessed making two trips to Salem, one on Sept. 10 and another on Sept. 13, to steal the cars. They abandoned a car stolen at Massillon on one of the trips here. Chief Ralph Stoffer said.

Flowers That Bloom In the Fall

Poets have missed it, nature lovers aim their rhapsodies at less worthy targets and one way and another the whole thing needs a better public relations buildup, but the flowers that bloom in the fall are the best. They can give the flowers that bloom in the spring all the odors of the spectrum and seed catalogue dimensions and still put them to shame.

Perhaps the most admirable thing about them is the way they thrive on adversity. By any standard of comparison, this was a tough summer, which assures a certain amount of admiration for everything that survived, but when to hardihood are added brilliance, profusion, sparkle, wit, color, charm and sympathy, even the war must wait a minute while we give some passing attention to the manifest superiority of the flowers that bloom in the fall.

American Alloy

The German general who tried to needle the last-ditch defenders of Brest into fanatic frenzy by reminding them that Americans do not belong to a single race, but are a mixture of many races, good and bad, is talking about our long suit.

For instance, there are a great many of the so-called pure Aryans over here, and they have made a tremendous contribution. Negroes, whose forebears were brought here against their will in the first place, now perform such invaluable service that the nation couldn't get along without them. We have taken races and nationalities as they came, accepted their best qualities, minimized their other qualities, and the result is America where it doesn't matter greatly what a citizen's great-great-grandfather was if the citizen, himself, has something to contribute. The American alloy, being a little bit of everything, is stronger than any of its component parts. German general at Brest apparently never heard of the alloy principle of mixing elements to increase toughness and strength, in spite of the fact he learned to fight with weapons of alloy steel.

The Twain Shall Meet

Allied conquest and occupation of Berlin is a foregone conclusion. Germany's capital is the ultimate goal of the advancing armies on both western and eastern fronts. From the nearest point of advance on the western front Berlin, situated two thirds of the distance across Germany from west to east, is now the same distance as it is from Russian troops at the Warsaw front. The Red army, though farther from the borders of Germany proper, is just as close to Berlin. For the first time, the German capital is now the same distance from the east and west jaws of the Allied pincers.

The twain shall meet—and we may believe the good judgment of Allied strategists will make the meeting the symbolic capstone of the joint war effort which is the real triumph of the Allies in the war. It is not a race to see who can reach Berlin first, but a campaign to make certain that attack from two directions convinces the German people their government's policy of dividing and conquering has been frustrated by cooperation. United States bombers have flown from British bases to Russian bases, dropping supplies to Warsaw patriots en route. Increasing pressure on the west, it is revealed, has caused transfer of some troops and aviation elements from the east. The Allied pincers are closing according to what now gives every indication of being a master plan for joint victory.

The Satellites' Peace

By James Thrasher

It is unlikely that the Nazi government will get any wrong ideas from the lenient armistice terms given to Finland and Romania. The drafters of these terms might have judged that the chief sin of the Finnish and Romanian people was an excess of discretion over valor.

The governments of both countries have behaved reprehensibly. But an American could at least understand the Finnish people's predicament, even if he could not excuse their action. And he could understand the Romanians' helplessness against a government which has long kept them poverty-ridden and all but voiceless.

But the Nazis know that it is different with them. The Germans were an educated, enlightened people. They knew what was happening. But thousands of their soldiers stand already convicted of barbarous crimes for which no excuse of ignorance can be offered. Europe will remember German complicity and German crime. And so surely will the men who dictate Germany's terms.

The Nazi government and the German people know this. That's why they are still fighting.

The Stars Say

For Friday, September 22

THE TESTIMONIES of the sidereal configuration ruling this day are clothed with intriguing, subtle and undercover aspects and predictions, which may result in achieving unusual or irregular objectives, not only with the assistance and practical support of those in place and power, but through novel, unique or other "vague and intangible" factors. Perhaps undercover deals or agreements might succeed where direct efforts might be doubtful. The intuitions or talents for intrigue or strategy might be most successfully employed.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of rather peculiar openings or alliances in which intrigue, stratagem, and subtlety are highly stimulated for outstanding results. These tactics may have appeal for those in high places, with whom undercover agreements—tacit rather than written—may be most successful and decisive. The element of intuition, hunches or other subtle approaches may bring most surprising returns, with finesse, tact, and a quality of glamor most efficient for business, social and romantic aspirations.

A child born on this day should have prosperity and happiness.

Gov. Dewey On Labor

Labor's stake in the presidential election this year is vastly greater than that of either President Roosevelt or Gov. Dewey. They either win or lose and go from there. But labor cannot afford to lose. The welfare of millions of men and women depends on the right outcome.

Gov. Dewey's speech Monday night at Seattle is a denial of the New Deal claim that a fourth term for Mr. Roosevelt is organized labor's best bet. Against the log-rolling, back-scratching and condescension of the New Deal he stacks his own belief in a balanced society in which all legitimate rights of labor would be secure and all illegitimate rights would be abandoned. He offers to labor a policy of dignity and fairness and asks it to repudiate an administration which has traded off influence for political support and placed its fortunes largely in the hands of extremists of the Hillman-Browder type.

Gov. Dewey, in effect, is appealing to working men and women over the heads of leaders who have committed their unions and tried to commit the whole labor movement in America to the political fortunes of one man—Mr. Roosevelt. He believes such leaders have misjudged the temper of their rank-and-file members. He believes in the innate dignity of the average American citizen who works for a living and who has nothing in common with the tenets of the Hillman-Browder minority which has assumed the right to speak in his behalf and promise his vote. He repudiates the condescending attitude of his political rival who, knowing nothing first-hand about labor, assumes that laboring people can be treated as a political commodity. In contrast, Gov. Dewey offers labor efficient administration of its lawful rights and a place of dignity in a balanced society.

There is no way of knowing whether so moderate an appeal will have any effect. The tragedy of this presidential campaign is that great issues are being obscured by the people's preoccupation with war—but the issues will remain to be settled long after the war is over. Naturally, nothing could be further from the wishes of the Hillmans and Browders than for laboring men and women to realize their support for the New Deal will be construed as a mandate after Nov. 7 to act as spokesmen and trustees for the American labor movement.

Gov. Dewey has nothing to offer the Hillman-Browder faction. He is not interested in the welfare of individual leaders, but of laboring people and the labor movement, which he holds to be endangered by confusion, haphazardness and special privilege.

The general public soon will have a chance to buy 30,000 vehicles from the Army. We know how that will strike us—if we don't jump.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Clinical Thermometer

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE OTHER day in my correspondence was a letter from a woman, a house mother, who said she kept a clinical thermometer in the home but when she took her temperature the other day it was closer to 99 than to 98, and she had always thought that normal.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

temperature is 98. I confess this shocked me. A full knowledge of the use of the clinical thermometer is part of the basic and fundamental equipment of life, upon which may depend the welfare and happiness and even the lives of every member of a family.

Besides the ignorance is inexcusable because on all clinical thermometers an arrow is engraved on the scale pointing to the normal temperature of the human body which is 98.4 degrees Fahrenheit.

Use of Clinical Thermometer

I say a full knowledge of the use of the clinical thermometer should be part of every housewife's mental equipment, because in these days of doctor shortage the most certain way to answer the question as to whether a member of the household is sick enough to need a doctor is to take his temperature. If he has a fever he probably needs a doctor. If the temperature is normal he probably can wait. There are exceptions, but it is a good general rule.

Besides the arrow pointing to the average normal temperature, there are two other technical points about the clinical thermometer that should be mastered. First, after registering the column of mercury will stay stationary indefinitely. This is accomplished by a bubble in the column just above the bulb and requires that the column be shaken down before a new recording is made. The other point is that the column of mercury is very small and the thermometer is designed in a triangular shape so that by getting the column just under the apex of the triangle it is magnified for easy reading. To do this requires, as most of you know, a little practice.

This simple little instrument, like so many of our household utensils, has been brought to its present state of perfection only after arduous struggles, trials and errors, by many earnest men. Knowledge of body temperature is a very recent development in the history of medical progress. Thermometry itself only began about 1600 with Galileo. Fahrenheit lived from 1686 to 1736.

As late as the Civil war Dr. W. W. Keen began as a brand new idea to take the sick soldier's temperature. He carried around a thermometer so big he had to tuck it under his arm, and the only temperature he was able to read was that of the armpit. But soon after our convenient clinical thermometer came in. A German professor, Traube, took the first continuous, or rather hourly, reading through one day on himself. And another German professor, Wunderlich, in 1868, published his study on the thermometer of the human body in various conditions, making classic charts of all the fevers, and founding our present science of clinical thermometry once and for all.

What every doctor wants to know first about every patient is temperature, pulse rate and respiration. If those are normal he feels pretty satisfied. Of them temperature is the most reliable. Pulse and respiration can be influenced by excitement or emotion; not so temperature. Indeed one of the most wonderful phenomena about this wonderful body of ours is that it maintains its temperature exactly at the point of 98.4 degrees all day, every day, year in and year out, in hot weather or cold.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

During the first six months of 1944 about 22,000,000 pounds of air cargoes were flown over the global aerial freight system. About one-third of the total cargoes carried were strategic raw materials for the U. S. S. R. and the United Kingdom.

OWI WILL RADIO U. S. PROPAGANDA FROM OHIO SOON

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—News of Allied successes will bombard Axis citizens on a 24-hour basis from the most powerful short wave transmitters in the world, the Office of War Information discloses.

Three new short wave stations, WLWL, WLWS and WLWR, located near Bethany, O., 20 miles north of here, each capable of an output of 200,000 watts plus, have gone into operation for the purpose of disseminating news and entertainment not only to all parts of Europe but to Africa and South America.

Formal dedication of the stations will take place simultaneously in Cincinnati and Washington Saturday night.

The new installations cover a square mile of level ground fenced in and heavily guarded. A forest of antenna surrounds the only building on the premises.

Develop Powerful Tube

Key point in the maze of wires, transformers, switch towers and other equipment is the tube which makes 200,000 watts possible.

The most powerful tube Germany has been able to develop has an output of 100,000 watts, the OWI says.

Inception of the new transmitters came about two years ago in Washington when OWI men, high ranking officers of the Army and Navy, the Federal Communications Commission and top notches in American commercial broadcasting were discussing the problem of combating Axis propaganda.

"Why not build 200,000 watt transmitters," queried James D. Shouse, OWI vice president in charge of broadcasting.

The Federal Telephone and Radio Co., Newark N. J., began the experiment. To date they have produced four of the tubes and an important design now is past the drawing board stage.

Of 33 short wave stations in the United States used by OWI for propaganda purposes, two stations, WLWO and WLWK are powered with 75,000 watts and have been in operation for more than a year.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

by Faith Baldwin

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

Matthew is selfish, Judith thought, he has always been. His mother's fault, I suppose. It doesn't matter, she argued with herself, to be so selfish. If I ever have children I won't marry myself to them. I'll give them their emotional independence. It's about the only thing I can give them of any value because standards of decency and education. Mary's done all that for Matthew. She's given him honesty and integrity, she's watched over his health, and she's worked for his education. But he isn't independent. He thinks he is. But he isn't.

Aloud she said, "I'll be glad to see Lynn too. He's such a darling." During the Autumn Eva Lambert wrote Judith cheerfully that she had canceled a projected sailing to Honolulu although they might go the first of the year. But Cousin Marion wrote also, in agitation and underlining every few words, "You must!" she wrote, "ever tell her that I told you, as she would be furious. But your mother isn't well at all. Judith, get heavy cold she took last month and hangs on. The doctor advised the Honolulu trip but she doesn't seem to have the strength to undertake it."

Judith showed the letter to Matthew and he shook his head over it. "I can just see Cousin Marion," he remarked, "about five-three, thin as a rail, and very garrulous. People who underline words always talk too much. She's an alarmist, darling. Why don't you write your mother's doctor if you are really disturbed?"

"Cousin Marion," Judith repeated, "is five feet ten and weighs at least two hundred. She could pick Mother up in one arm and run in the other. And she isn't in the least an alarmist. Matthew, I want to be easy until I see for myself I think I'll fly out."

He said in blank dismay, "You don't mean now?"

"As soon as I can get ready."

They were together in the living room. Judith went over, sat down on his knees, and put her arms around him. She said, "I'll miss you dreadfully. But this is something I must do, dearest."

He said, after a moment, "But you were going to Boston with me to the convention next week."

"There will be other conventions."

His jaw was stubbornly set. "And there's the new house," he reminded her.

They had found, at last, exactly what they wanted, just across the Connecticut line, an hour from New York by the parkways; a small house that needed very little remodeling, and two acres of ground with a tinkling little brook fringed by woods. Mary was undertaking the redecoration for them.

"Mary will see to it," said Judith, "don't look so appalled. Matthew, I shan't be gone very long."

"But what am I to do without you?" he demanded. "I was so upset when you were with Mother last summer. I simply can't get along—"

She broke in, kissing him, ruffling his dark hair with her hands. "Of course you'll get along."

"If it were necessary..." he began.

"How do you know it isn't?" she queried, sitting up straight. "If I have a week with her, that's all I want."

want. It isn't much to ask of you, Matthew."

"You're not asking," he remarked, "you're telling me!"

Judith slid off his knees and stood up, looking down at him as he leaned back against a corner of the big couch.

"All right," she said, "then I'm telling you. Suppose it was Mary and she was ill? Wouldn't you take the first plane out?"

"Of course," he agreed, "if I was sure—"

"How could you be sure unless...?" She broke off in exasperation. She said hotly, "You're the most selfish man I ever—"

"Selfish!" Matthew repeated, astonished. "Selfish because I don't want you to go away from me? Most women would be flattered. A lot of husbands would be enchanted with the prospect of a marital vacation." He grinned at her, his ill humor evaporating. "You're so pretty. Come here and kiss me," he ordered.

Judith leaned over and touched her lips briefly to his. He complained, "That's no kind of kiss, and pulled her down beside him. Several moments later she emerged from his embrace and shook her head.

"That solves nothing," she told him.

"It solves everything."

She said, "We've been married a year—"

They had had their first big party a week or so before, to celebrate their wedding anniversary. And had quarreled very definitely over the invitations. Matthew had given her his list and asked to see hers, and had protested against the inclusion of Elizabeth and Peter. "I thought that was off," he said.

Judith had argued that it was a big party. "Not just our closest friends," she said, "although strictly speaking they are in that category. There are dozens of people down here whom we barely know."

He said, "But we want to know them."

So they had quarreled, yet it wasn't really a quarrel. Matthew stated his opinion and his will and let it go at that. No matter how angry she became or how disturbed, he did not take it seriously. And somehow at the end she was in his arms again and that made everything upon which they differed seem suddenly totally unimportant.

Now Judith said, "Married a year.... and we don't know each other at all, sometimes."

"I know you," contradicted her husband, "through and through. I have you by heart."

That was sweet. Matthew could be very sweet, very disarming. Judith shook her head. "How about knowing me by mind?" she inquired.

"I'm not interested."

"That's what worries me," she murmured. "Matthew, are we always going to bicker, and then kiss and make up?"

"Who's bickering?" he inquired.

"I never do. But you're always springing little surprises."

"So it's my fault?"

"What is?" he asked blankly.

"What is this all about anyway?" Judith answered. "I give up."

"Good," said Matthew. "Then suppose you wire or write Cousin Marion for the name of the doctor, if you don't already know it, and let me write him myself. We'll soon get to the bottom of this."

Judith went over to the fireplace and declared firmly, "I'm going west, Matthew, as soon as possible."

"You'll only scare your mother to death."

"No, I won't. It's her birthday, very soon. That's an excellent excuse, plus the fact that I do want to see her."

"And I'm to go to Boston alone?"

"I'm afraid so."

The bell rang and Nils went to the door to admit Sam, Bill and several other men for poker. Matthew had such star evenings now and then. Any one of them was liable to be called away, returning later if possible, but the friendly wrangling game went on interminably. Judith saw to drinks and sandwiches, and retired to her bedroom for the duration.

She sighed a little, with relief. Matthew couldn't argue any more this evening. And it would be late when he came to bed. It was late, but he woke her and while she lay there, drowsy, half slipping back into uneasy dreams, he stormed around the room, undressing, dropping shoes, wrenching at buttons and discarding on the game. "I must be lucky in love," he declared gleefully.

"Well, aren't you?"

"Luckiest man on earth!" he came to sit on the edge of the bed. "You look about six when you wake from sleep," he said admiringly, "with your little face washed clean.... and your eyes as big as nice blue chips."

"I'll feel about sixty in the morning. Do come to bed, Matthew, and let me go back to sleep."

He took her roughly in his arms. "If you think you're ever going away from me," he said, "you're crazy."

"Matthew...." Judith sighed, turned away from his kiss. "I'm crazy then," she said finally, "let me go."

"You're the stubbornest...."

But she was asleep, or pretending to be.

BUZZ BOMBS FALL ON LONDON AGAIN

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Flying bombs zoomed over London and the southern counties last night for the fourth successive night as the Germans continued sporadic attacks, apparently aimed at keeping Britain's lights from coming on again.

Casualties included several children recently returned from the safety of country districts.

In one section at least two people were killed and four others were seriously injured when a row of homes was destroyed.

Most Far Eastern artists paint not what they see, but what they feel.

Pennsylvania G.O.P. Victory In November Forecast By Bricker

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—Governor John W. Bricker turned his attention to Maryland today after a two-day tour of Pennsylvania that raised his hopes of a Republican victory in the Keystone state.

"I am convinced," the Republican candidate for vice president told newspapermen, "that the Republicans will carry Pennsylvania. I say this because of the enthusiasm of the people for our cause and because of what party leaders have told me."

The crowd which heard him last night at Wilkes-Barre, in the heart of the anthracite region, was the largest Bricker has drawn in his campaign. Maj. William A. Clary of the state police estimated it at 10,000 persons.

The Ohio governor, who will speak in this city tonight following an inspection of its ship yards, concluded his Pennsylvania visit with a statement that the issues of the current political campaign were being "purposely confused by the New Deal."

To do this, he told his Wilkes-Barre audience, "the Washington administration is spending hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' hard-earned money to propagandize the taxpayers themselves—to promote the idea of an indispensable man and a commander in chief."

He expressed belief that there would be no doubt of a Republican victory in the Nov. 7 election if the campaign were based on the real issues. These, he said, include "state socialism and self-government," centralized power and the federal system, deficit financing and government economy.

Bricker also accused the Democratic administration of withholding news from the people and cited as an example the delay in the court-martial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short.

SOVIETS GAINING IN ESTONIA CAMPAIGN,
APPROACH TALLINN

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's Red army veterans of Leningrad, having destroyed the northern anchorage of the German Baltic line in a massive sweep across Estonia, raced forward today in a double-barreled drive for the enemy escape port of Tallinn.

One wing of Govorov's forces thrusting west from Narva has captured Hanika, less than 65 miles east of Tallinn, a Russian war bulletin disclosed last night, and presumably was even closer today. Govorov's second wing was spearheading north from Tartu. (London estimated this force was less than 50 miles from Tallinn on the southeast.)

Moscow's guns thundered a salute to Govorov for his four days' gains ranging from 37 to 44 miles, wiping out formidable German defenses between Lake Peipus and the Finnish gulf.

Seeking to trap or annihilate any German troops from Finland who may reach Estonia, Govorov turned the enemy's flank and sent his troops rushing through the center of the little northern country like a tidal wave.

Govorov's northern troops, following the Narva-Tallinn railway, were within artillery range of the key rail town of Rakvere, and closing in on Tapa, important rail junction only 45 miles southeast of Tallinn.

Meanwhile on the approaches to the Latvian port of Riga Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's columns captured an additional 100 settlements from a fanatically resisting foe, and again hurled back tank and infantry attacks aimed at his communications base of Jelgava.

Between Bagramian's and Govorov's forces the two armies of Gen. Andrei Yeremenko and Gen. Ivan Maslennikov surged forward in an attempt to slice the German front in half in the vicinity of the common border of Estonia and Latvia.

In the past two days Russian communiques have announced German loss of 4,750 populated places in the Soviet Baltic drive.

The Red army was officially silent on the battle for Warsaw and he drive from Transylvania toward the plains of Hungary.

Boulogne—was captured for the Allies.

From north of Aachen to the Belfort gap the Germans were throwing in one counter-attack after another—attacks which cost them at least 106 tanks in 24 hours and nowhere gained ground against the first U. S. army of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges or the Third U. S. army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton.

Hodges' troops pushed across the German frontier at the German frontier village of Scherpenseel, five miles northeast of the Dutch village of Heerlen and 10 miles north of Aachen.

Encircled Aachen thundered to explosions which suggested last-minute German demolitions, while to the east of Aachen, the first army fought its way through the last crumbling resistance in the factory district of Stolberg and battered on to the edge of Gressenich, 28 miles from Cologne and eight miles east of Aachen. Duren was under American artillery fire.

Seventh Army Gains

Some of the heaviest German tank losses were in attacks on this stout wedge through the Siegfried line.

Other heavy fighting was taking place in the outskirts of Biesdorf, one mile east of the Luxembourg border.

In the Moselle valley other heavy counter-attacks were smashed in the Dieuze area, and in the Luneville area. Here the Americans were fighting about 55 miles from Strasbourg and the Rhine. Moven and Magnieres, eight and 10 miles south of Luneville, were reached.

Heavy resistance was encountered around Metz where the Germans lost 55 tanks, but Patton's forces beat off counter-attacks and closed in.

The Seventh army, closing in on the last 12 miles to the Belfort gap, also made gains all along its front. With the fall of Boulogne, the Allies began a real siege hammering of Calais. A 3,000 to 4,000-ton bomb attack was made on the town yesterday.

Army transport planes have proved that the North Atlantic is flyable the year round, both eastbound and westbound.

Solid South' Hears Rumors Of Revolt Among Democrats

By ROBERT H. BROWN, International News Writer

ATLANTA, Ga.—The political pot is beginning to boil early in Dixie, though the fire has not yet really been set for the national presidential campaign.

Down South, where there has been a lot of talk about "Southern reaction" and the racial equality issue, things are already happening politically. They are events that may have a bearing on the presidential trend in the fall.

The fact there has been some reaction on the part of Southerners makes the early political steps all the more interesting, because politicians and others are wondering how far the revolt will go in the section, where, for years and years, there has been practically nothing but the one party.

Rumblings of Revolt
Rumblings have been heard from Democratic states as Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina. These states, with the possible exception of Tennessee, have not in the past so far as Democratic nominees are concerned.

Mississippi Gov. Thomas L. B. Friend, head of the Mississippi Democracy Club, had previously called a mass meeting of party members for the purpose of electing a new slate of electors pledged to the Roosevelt ticket. After Bailey's announcement, the meeting was cancelled.

Louisiana Doubtful
In Louisiana, electors have not yet decided what they will take but a majority of them are believed to be opposed to Roosevelt and Truman. Into the picture in this state came Gov. Sam Jones' statement that a legal technicality may prevent the electors from voting for anything other than the national Democratic nominees.

There has been considerable political speculation on a plan proposed by E. B. Germany, of Dallas, Texas, to combine giving them 53 electoral votes. Germany contends that this combine would serve to give the South strength to combat certain evils.

In Alabama, there has been a new Alabama American Democrats organization, the purpose being the ousting of the New Deal. Another Texan, Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, opened the campaign in that state with a radio address.

Trouble In Georgia
In Georgia, President Roosevelt's "second home state," a coalition of "publican Democrats are promising to spend considerable amounts of money to fight the re-election of the President.

It was in Georgia that perhaps the biggest surprise popped up. The Republican National Committee has instituted a mandamus suit charging that "boosy Republicans" have been put on the ticket by Secretary of State John B. Wilson.

Immediately after this suit was filed, the name of former Governor Eugene Talmadge jumped into the limelight again.

A signed statement by three Republicans, charging that Talmadge had attempted to bring together "New Dealers and Republicans" in an effort to defeat Roosevelt, was issued. The statement was signed by Harry Sommers, C. M. Jordan and Wilson Williams, Republican national committeemen.

Talmadge Plan Rejected
They said several conferences had been held with Talmadge, at which time he outlined a plan to name as electors Dixie Democrats and Republicans jointly by independent Democrats and Republicans.

The plan, they said, was to appeal to voters on racial and religious prejudices.

However, Sommers and Jordan refused to be a party to such an arrangement.

Following this disclosure, came a statement from Chairman Lon Duckworth.

SCAT KIDS SNATCH SINKER AND COFFEE

AN ADVANCED HAMBURGER STAND, Bougainville—If you are a SCAT kid skidding your scooter to the line across the muck of the strip, they'll pitch you a sinker and a hot cuppa five jerks after you drop out of the driver's seat.

If you are the particular type, you can get a double-decker or a Dagwood special on the jump. The Terry-and-the-Pirates talk, for the orderly ones who like understandable sentences, means that if you are a South Pacific Combat Air Transport (SCAT) pilot bringing your C-47 in across the muddy landing strip you can get plenty of coffee, doughnuts and tea from the Red Cross canteen at the edge of the field.

The Red Cross operates canteens, which the GIs call "hang-out" stands, all along the SCAT routes north from Bougainville, and have even installed circulating libraries so that passengers and crew can take along a book or magazine.

The books and magazines are exchanged at stations farther along, and eventually come back again. That's how the library circulates.

One of the finest canteens, created by combined efforts of the Army Engineers, the Seabees and the Quartermaster Corps, is on

TIME CHANGES

On All Schedules of
PENN-OHIO COACH LINES
SUNDAY, SEPT. 24

Effective next Sunday all operations of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines will be on EASTERN STANDARD TIME (Ohio State Time), which is one hour slower than Eastern War Time.

Unfortunately various communities are changing their local times on various dates. Bus schedules cannot be changed to meet each of these various changes. Therefore, as September 24 is the date for change in most of the communities served by Penn-Ohio Coach Lines the change for operations on these lines has been set for Sunday, September 24.

Important Schedule Changes

On several divisions will be effective at the same time. Consult your local ticket agent and ask for new timetable.

Is Your Crankcase Full of MUD?

THIS is the crankcase pan from an automobile. Its owner stuck to peacetime rules and had his oil changed regularly every 1,000 miles. But look what happened! Black, mud-like sludge by the handful almost ruined his motor by clogging oil screens and oil lines, cutting off the oil flow.

Sludge forms fast these days because with lower wartime speeds and shorter trips motors don't heat up enough to drive off impurities. Fight wartime sludge and save your motor by following new wartime recommendations.

Have your Sinclair Dealer— (1) Drain used oil at recommended intervals, while motor is hot. (2) Flush parts clean with flushing oil. (3) Refill with fresh, clean Sinclair motor oil.

OHIO FEDERATION OF LABOR AGAIN BACKS PRESIDENT

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—The Ohio Federation of Labor will support President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

The standing vote to back the President came after three hours of debate late yesterday at the 60th annual convention which closes today, and reaffirmed a stand taken by the organization one year ago.

President Michael Lyden said the vote was 4 to 1, but John Breidenbach, vice-president and leader of the opposition, claimed it was only 2 to 1.

No actual count was taken. In the resolution to support President Roosevelt, delegates asked members of OFL affiliates "to do everything in their power" to re-elect him.

Breidenbach, in his fight against the fourth-term stand, spoke about 10 minutes and returned to the floor for one brief rebuttal remark. "Back in our home towns," he said, "we still have integrity, honesty and common sense enough to vote the way we think we should, without dragging politics into this convention. I'm not telling you not to vote for President Roosevelt. I'm telling you this is not the place to decide it."

He reminded delegates that President William Green of the AFL had urged the O.F.L. to follow a non-partisan policy. He also reminded them that Samuel Gompers, the late AFL leader, always had said that labor should "not muddy up waters with politics."

Those speaking in favor of the fourth term included Phil Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the O.F.L., and Matthew De Moore, chairman of the committee to which the resolution was referred.

De Moore, explaining the committee's stand, said the group had no expectations the federation membership would "go out and vote the straight Democratic ticket."

Hannah said Gompers always felt labor should "reward its friends and punish its enemies," adding that Roosevelt was the "best friend labor ever had." He added that "there are no times to remain neutral."

Report Hitler Living In Armored Train Now

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—CBS Correspondent Howard K. Smith said in a broadcast from Bern today that travelers from Germany reported Hitler now lived in his heavily-armored special train which moves from station to station by day and halts at night in guarded tunnels.

A Swiss newspaper quoted by Smith in his broadcast said Hitler had become inaccessible to almost all except his Gestapo adjutant and the only news allowed to reach his ears were communiques from his crumbling war fronts.

Prisoners continued to be escorted out of the pens several hours after the city fell. When there were not enough Americans to accompany them they were sent forward in two's and three's, dragging their baggage behind them.

8,500 More Prisoners

Maj. Gen. Troy H. Middleton's Eighth army corps, composed of the Second, Eighth and 29th infantry divisions, accomplished the victory.

At 3 p. m. in the Place De Woodrow Wilson, Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, commanding the Second division, and Brig. Gen. Georges P. Hayes, commanding the Second division's artillery, watched Col. Erich Platzonka, highest ranking German remaining in the city, stiffly hand over his pistol to an American colonel in formal surrender.

The German colonel had notified his troops earlier of the surrender hour after an emissary bearing a white flag had arrived with Maj. William F. Kernan of Washington, D. C., for an armistice.

"The Americans have come over the wall and encircled our command posts," Platzonka told his troops. "Hence an armistice is necessary."

Late in the day the prisoner bag was estimated at 8,500, bringing to 35,000 the number of Germans captured during the battle for Brest.

Twenty of the giant Mars flying boats are being built for the U. S. Navy, to rush mail, men and material to the far-flung Pacific bases.

In Mayor's Court

Joseph Bowman, 317 N. Ellsworth ave., was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Mayor R. R. Johnson for permitting a fire hazard to exist on a property belonging to him on E. Third st. The fire came as a result of an order by the fire department to clear the property.

Charles Lewis, 942 E. Third st., told police today that a wrist watch, valued at $50, was stolen from the kitchen of his home sometime Tuesday night.

since it came to France. But they nowhere approached the German losses.

This column alone has knocked out 93 tanks, destroyed 454 other vehicles, destroyed 28 guns larger than 88s and taken more than 2,000 prisoners since it dashed across the Moselle under fire north of Nancy just a week ago. It also overran an armored division headquarters and captured 110 vehicles.

Fogs have limited visibility in the past few days.

"The Germans are getting tough; they stand and fight and don't give an inch even when we get behind them," said Capt. Stedman Seay, Albany, N. Y.

To all intents and purposes this is "enemy territory." The inhabitants speak German instead of French. All signs are in German. The Nazis sought for four years to Germanize the territory seized from France with immigrants and suppressed the French way of life.

The German civilians give some trouble by spy activity. Evidence has been received that the day after the crossing of the Moselle German troops in this area had detailed knowledge of this column's movements, something which never happened in France before.

"We are not giving civilians around here the leeway they had in France," Maj. Yuel Havens of Meridian, Miss., said. "We keep them out of bivouac areas and all towns are off limits to troops."

Lack of Rainfall Hurts Farmers In Some Areas

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—Ohio's prankish weather still is causing farmers concern, the weather bureau reported today, in revealing that lack of rainfall is hampering plowing for winter wheat sowing.

Meteorologist George W. Mindling said farmers in many northern Ohio counties had been unable to prepare the ground for wheat because it was too dry and too hard, and that more rainfall was needed before the ground could be prepared and the seed sown.

Mindling said about half the stations reporting today had not recorded a third of an inch of rainfall since Sept. 1 and in some sections of the state pastures again were reported falling.

A late tomato crop was reported ripening slowly in the northern third of the state due to cold weather. Corn, too, Mindling said, was slow in maturing in many parts of Ohio.

The "odograph," M-1 Automatic Road Reconnaissance Device, makes road maps while a jeep, tank or truck speeds over roads. It can also plot position of objectives, tie gun positions together, and be used in land navigation.

The Communist groups in North China, long opposed by the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, have grown more powerful. Other opposition groups have come to the fore, particularly in Kwangsi province.

Economic difficulties, inflation and shortages have made the lot of the people increasingly miserable. The armies fight without even a minimum of necessary arms, in many instances are poorly led, and feel they have less and less to fight for.

The Allied command setup is regarded here as hopelessly complicated. American General Joseph Stilwell serves two masters as chief of staff to Chiang and an officer of the Allied commander in Southeast Asia and Burma, Lord Louis Mountbatten. Mountbatten in turn is subject to decisions of Gen. Sir Auchinleck, India commander. Auchinleck's primary concern is to preserve order in India.

The Allied high command called off plans for an amphibious assault on Rangoon, Burma, a year ago so that the campaign in interior Burma has had to go forward alone against incredible hardships. But it is the only campaign that has held promise directly for the Chinese.

It is felt here that the only real encouragement to the Chinese will be to prove beyond doubt that the long-awaited supplies are really on the way. Such proof at the moment could come only in the defeat of Germany and the consequent transfer of forces to the Pacific.

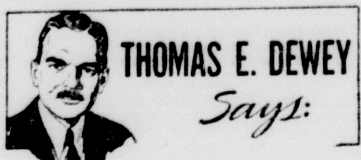

Russia Silent On Query From UNRRA

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—Russia has remained silent on the question of what relief measures she intends to provide for the peoples liberated by Soviet armies, the conference of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration was told last night.

L. B. Pearson, conference chairman, said the UNRRA had asked Russia for information but had received no reply.

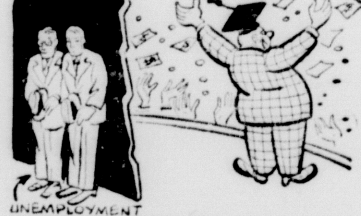

Polish Ambassador Jan Ciechanowski urged the conference yesterday to ask all Allied governments to warn Germany that application of the scorched earth policy in further retreats would result in the Germans being forced to give their own clothing and fuel to the peoples of the despoiled countries.

The rocket propulsion principle does not threaten the supremacy of screw-driven pleasure craft such as the helicopter, but could be successfully adapted to operate such machines in the postwar period.

THOMAS E. DEWEY Says:

"In 1940, the year before this country entered the war, there were 10,000,000 unemployed. After seven years of unequalled power and unparalleled spending, the New Deal had failed utterly to solve that problem. It never solved that problem. It was left to be solved by war. Do we have to have a war to get jobs? "What are we now offered? Only the dreary prospect of a continued war economy after the war, with interference piled on interference and petty tyrannies rivaling the very regimentation against which we are now at war."

But Look Behind the Scenes

up southern France and stands before Belfort, ready to invade southern Germany, probably the weakest Nazi area of the Reich and where there has been talk of forming provincial governments for separate truces.

The American First and Third armies have operated all along separately from, although in most complete co-ordination with, Montgomery's multi-Allied forces near the coast, and are pointed toward the Cologne-Coblenz area.

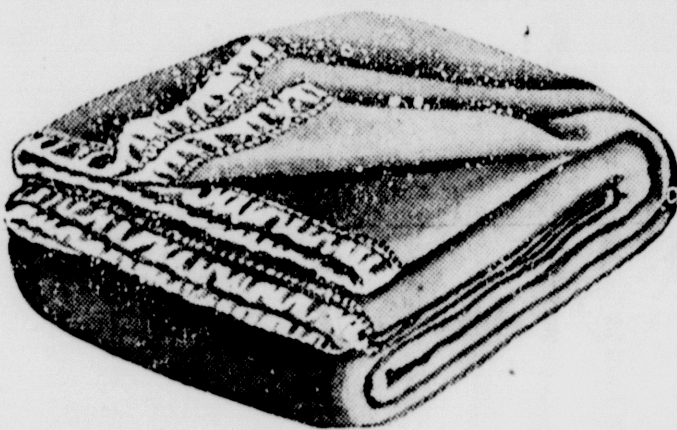

Arnhem is the first job. It is key to the border and the north German highway system. If there would permit the Allies to flow both east and south behind the Siegfried and Rhine defenses, providing an anvil on which Patton, Hodges and Patch could pound the life out of Germany's main western defenses.

NEW YORK LEAVES TIGER TOWN TODAY, AND ARE NOT SORRY

Yanks Have Had Terrible Time With Pennant-Bound Tigers

By FRANK KENESSON
DETROIT, Sept. 21.—The New York Yankees, staggering from five straight defeats that have punched them deep into third place from the top of American league standings, today bid farewell for 1944 to Detroit and the Tigers, and you can bet your last summer's straw lid they won't be in a hurry to come back.

In 10 games at Briggs stadium this year New York has won one. In 21 clashes with the Tigers the Yanks have taken only seven decisions, and in 13 appearances against the pitching of Hal Newhouser or Paul Trout the world champions have squeezed out but a single victory.

Going into the third and last game of their final series with the Tigers, the Yanks were all but out of the 1944 pennant picture, four games behind the pace-setting Bengals. A week ago they were leading the league.

Manager Steve O'Neill's Tiger pitching choice today was left-hander Frank Overmire. Walter Dubiel was the New York nominee.

Trout, making his fourth try for his 25th pitching victory, scattered seven Yankee hits yesterday for an 8 to 2 triumph, as his mates belted Rookie Right-hander Mel Queen and his successor, Floyd Bevens, for a dozen hits. Eleven of the Tiger blows figured in the scoring.

For Detroit, the victory was the 18th in 24 games since Aug. 25—leaving the Tigers just a hop behind their blazing September, 1940, pace, when they vaulted to the pennant by winning 17 of their last 22 contests at home.

At Ohio State university:
Coach Carroll Widdeas introduced a 5-3-2-1 pass defense to the Ohio State Buckeyes as they prepared for their opener Saturday against Missouri a week from Saturday.

Earl Girard unlimbered his passing arm and Wisconsin's first team scored frequently against the reserves in a long offensive drill.

INDIANS SEEKING THIRD OVER SOX
(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Cleveland's Indians, still retaining a mathematical chance of finishing on the lower rung of the first division, sought their third straight victory over the Boston Red Sox in the series finale today.

The Tribesmen edged the Sox 11 to 10 yesterday in a 13-inning struggle in which 31 players, 20 of them Indians, participated.

Boston deadlocked the score with a two-run splurge in the ninth and went ahead with a single tally in the 13th. The Indians came back in their half of the stanza with a pair of runs to win.

Jim Bagby was the winner and Yank Terry the loser.

"Hold That Tiger" Is Only Thought In Junior Loop's Current Crazy Quilt Race

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer
"Hold that Tiger! Hold that Tiger! Don't let that Tiger go!" That was the American league's theme song today but it was beginning to look as though something more desperate than holding was in order if Detroit's Bengals were to be kept out of the 1944 world series.

Steve O'Neill's ferocious Cats had clawed the opposition at a 13 out of 17 pace since Sept. 1 to scramble past both St. Louis and New York.

With only 12 games to go and a game and a half lead on the Browns, the Tigers dominated the picture today. Two straight over the Yankees had dropped the champs four games back and Boston had taken care of itself by losing two in a row to Cleveland to fall six full games behind.

Over the harvest month stretch, O'Neill's batting order, paced by Dick Wakefield, Rudy York and Roger Cramer, had slugged out a .362 average while the pitching corps had tamed the enemy with an anemic 2.42 figure.

Wakefield boasted a 14-game hitting streak for .490, with 25 hits for 51 at bats. Cramer had hit .447 since Sept. 1, York .325 and Eddie Mayo .300.

With Wakefield back to take the pressure off York, the home run slugger had driven in 17 runs this month to match the former Michigan U. athlete.

Twelve Detroit hits off Rookie Mel Queen and Floyd Bevens helped Dizzy Trout to his 25th victory yesterday with an 8-2 edge over New York.

Jack Kramer kept the Browns up there, bouncing back from Tuesday's discouraging setback to trim Washington, 5-2. Chet Laabs, who replaced Al Zarilla in left field, led the 11-hit attack on Mickey Hafner and Al Carrasquel.

Reliever Jim Beaby stopped Boston in a wild-hitting contest won by Cleveland with two in the 13th. 11-10. Chicago broke loose with six runs in the seventh to give Orval Grove a 6-1 verdict over Russ Christopher.

Bucky Walters grabbed his 22nd win by beating the Phils in the nightcap, 6-4, after Charley Schanz had stopped the Reds in the opener, 3-2.

The Cardinals, from mathematically clinching the flag, other games were rained out.

Here's Brief Look At Top Grid Camps

By JAN HARTNETT
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The final score was Michigan 6, Marquette 5, and the game preceded heat Saturday's second grid contest between the two teams at Milwaukee by just exactly 35 years.

That 1909 battle may presage another close struggle Saturday night as Michigan plays the second of a 10-game schedule and Coach Tom Stidham's Hilltoppers open an eight game campaign.

Coach Fritz Crisler sent his men through another blocking practice yesterday. The passing game also received attention with indications the Wolverines will use it plenty with Sharpshooter Bill Culligan doing the pitching.

INDIANA GRIDIRON HOPES RISING AS STAR COMES BACK

Surprise Lopsided Victory Over Fort Knox Last Week Impressive

(By Associated Press)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 21.—Storm warnings for football foes were flying over Indiana university today.

The Hoosiers, counted out as a threat to anybody before the season started, now are recovering remarkably well with the surprise arrival of Bob Hoernschmeyer, freed by the Navy to resume tossing yard-gaining passes that gave Indiana one of the best all-civilian teams last season.

True, Indiana broke its stadium scoring record with a 72 to 0 rout of a big Fort Knox team last Saturday, but Coach Alvin N. "Bo" McMillin explained the triumph by bewailing that the Armoreders displayed a sorry brand of ball.

Rate "Fighting Chance"
With "Hunchy" Hoernschmeyer starting at halfback next Saturday against Illinois, McMillin gives "my boys" a "fighting chance" against all rivals.

"Hunchy," a Cincinnati, was granted a "special order discharge" from the Bainbridge, Md., Naval training center and he beat the announcement back to Indiana's practice session yesterday. The discharge will permit him to make up a deficiency in mathematics before taking up an appointment to the Naval academy next April.

In 1943, as a freshman, he completed 72 of 155 aerial attempts for a gain of 1,136 yards and won recognition as one of the nation's outstanding passers. He also accounted for 515 yards running.

He was one the Associated Press All-Western conference team last year, and was on the Eastern All-Star squad.

Whether the passes will be used can only be determined at the game, but from all indications the power will be there if needed. Francis Lanney is doing most of the chucking—not yet exhibited this year—and a combination of Walter Brian, Ray Kelley and Jay Leach do the majority of the receiving.

Dick Gottschling has been working out at the other end most of this week and he may see action galore in the Ravens fracas.

The fray Saturday will prove at least one thing to the Salem coach: Evidence will be garnered from the test to convince Barrett just how much defensive power his Quaker line will contain this season.

In the Sebring game the stopping powers of the Quaker first string seemed top-notch, but whether the inexperienced Trojan line had any potency on offense is questionable.

During the entire four quarters Sebring failed to gain more yardage than they lost, even with the third and fourth string Salem teams in the game. Undoubtedly the Salem will receive a much heavier pounding this week and defense backs will see more trouble than they can expect from passes in any other game.

Coach Harry Gilcrest is a staunch admirer of the Francis Schmidt system of concentration on scoring. Using lots of the old "razzle-dazzle," Gilcrest's squads are content to keep ahead in the scoring, rather than spend most of their time stopping opposing plays.

The game gets under way at 2:30 p. m. on Raven field, which is located north of Ravenna.

Birds are dying by the thousands as a result of their feathers being fouled by oil set afloat from torpedoed ships and submarines.

Ravenna's Offense Looms As Toughest Salem Faces All During 1944 Schedule

From all indications from district grid camps the Salem Quakers will be meeting the most effective offense in Ravenna Saturday that they will encounter all season long.

No team on the local card this season has shown as much offensive fireworks in openers as the Raven crew. To add to that promise of potency is the fact that Ravenna's first victory—over the Rock Riverites, 19-13—was against a plenty strong outfit.

To cope with this powerful offense Coach Ben Barrett is doing some maneuvering with his defenses and offenses at Reilly field during workouts this week.

Defensive changes will obviously have to come Saturday, and with a good picture of the Ravenna offense in mind, Barrett is planning a top-notch stopper for the Raven T.

Present plans include heavy usage of line backers to spot the deceptive pass work in the backfield between Quarterback Charlie Kieselbach, the two halfbacks and Fullback Paul Shafer. With a decreased forward wall and ends and tackles crashing in, Barrett hopes to smother end sweeps and especially to buckle the Raven passing attack.

Backfielders are hard at work polishing their pass defenses and, to turn the tables on the touted Ravens, Barrett is working on a passing barrage of his own.

Whether the passes will be used can only be determined at the game, but from all indications the power will be there if needed. Francis Lanney is doing most of the chucking—not yet exhibited this year—and a combination of Walter Brian, Ray Kelley and Jay Leach do the majority of the receiving.

OHIO MISSIONARY HEAD SPEAKER AT DAMASCUS SUNDAY

DAMASCUS, Sept. 21—Dr. Walter R. Williams of Damascus, missionary superintendent of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, will speak at the Damascus Friends church at 8 p. m. Sunday.

Dr. Williams has spent 18 years in China and the Orient. Formerly pastor of the Damascus Friends church, he has had a varied experience as a church pastor, was a college instructor and a public school educator.

He is now regularly engaged in speaking appointments throughout Ohio and adjoining states in behalf of Friends' mission stations in China and India.

Candle Light Installation

The public is invited to attend the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Friends church at 7 p. m. Sunday.

This unusual candle light installation service for the new officers and committee chairmen will be held in the church auditorium. Souvenir programs will be furnished.

Methodist Rally Day

Plans for Rally Day at the Methodist church Sunday, Oct. 1, was made at a meeting of officers of the Sunday school and the board of education of the church Tuesday evening. A committee was appointed to send Christmas boxes to the members who are in the service.

Prior to the business session a covered dish supper was served to the group and their families.

The committee appointed to send the Christmas boxes includes Mrs. Alton Hye, Mrs. Alvin Carr and T. R. Somerville.

Entertain Pastor, Family

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Strawn and Rev. H. L. Strawn entertained at a gathering Monday evening honoring Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Anderson and family of Steubenville. A picnic supper was served and a social time enjoyed.

Other guests were Rev. Harold Lewis of Erie, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Baker of Westville; Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Stout and Mrs. Alton Hye and daughter Barbara.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Long entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in honor of the 18th birthday anniversary of Miss Freda Westphal.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Simpson of Detroit, and Mrs. David Long of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Simpson of Detroit, and Mrs. David Long of Cleveland, are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Long. Mr. and Mrs. Long and Miss Freda Westphal visited Pvt. and Mrs. David Long of Cleveland Sunday, and Mrs. David Long returned here with them.

Enters College

Miss Ellen June McDonald enrolled this week in Mount Union college for her sophomore year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shreve and Donald Kean and sons Kenneth and Bobby of Alliance called on Miss Laura Pettit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Geiger spent a few days with his father, W. J. Geiger of Cleveland, and celebrated the latter's birthday.

Pfc. and Mrs. Earl Mather and children of Camp Polk, La., who are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mather, spent Monday night and Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward of Alliance, and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jeffers; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Betz of New Alexander Wednesday evening.

Pvt. and Mrs. Woodrow Wyss and daughter of Camp Polk, La., visited his sister, Mrs. Elgie Boyle, Sunday night.

Members of the Damascus Girl Scout troop met Tuesday evening and practiced playing ball on the Boy Scout diamond.

Son Is Promoted

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Geiger have received word that their son, William R. Geiger who is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., has been advanced to technical sergeant.

Rev. H. L. Strawn accompanied Rev. Harold Lewis to Erie, Pa., and from there went to Cambridge, Mass., where he entered the Episcopal Theological seminary. His address is 99 Brattle st.

Since hogs do not sweat and therefore have a poor cooling system, shade and wallows should be provided for them in summer.

Fearsome Fireworks

The spectacular photo above shows the result of a shot launched from a bazooka against a tank in night-firing practice at Camp Roberts, Calif. The deadly pyrotechnical display occurred when bazooka's high explosive rocket struck the tank, sending the shower of molten metal into the sky.

Emergency landing mats for them must be carried by air are now weighs about 50 per cent less than mats of operation where equipment made from aluminum alloy, which is similar steel mats.

Classes At Goshen School Select New Officers For Year

DAMASCUS, Sept. 21—Members of the Senior class of the Goshen township High school have elected these officers for the year: President, Robert Marty; vice president, Thomas Carr; secretary, Charlene Morton; treasurer, Laura Belle Wack; announcement committee, Geraldine Hively, Jesse Martig and Matilda Krizay; motto and class colors, Lois Beck, Shirley Barber and Richard Griffith.

The High school received $35 for the exhibit at the Mahoning county fair at Canfield and $5 each for the typing and home economics exhibits.

Class Officers

The Junior class officers elected recently are:

President, Paul Buttermore; vice president, Sam Wang; secretary, Naomi Ovington; treasurer, Elise Steer; social chairman, Martha Redman.

Sophomore officers: President, Donald Lane; vice president, Herbert Mercer; secretary, Lowell Smith; treasurer, Janice Wyss.

Freshman officers: President, Donald Steer; vice president, Elmer Stoffer; secretary, Dean Kelly; treasurer, Robert Wilkinson.

Display School Plans

The Goshen township board of education met in the High school building Monday evening and discussed plans to present the building proposition to the people.

Water colored plans of the proposed new High school building and the building at the Center are to be seen at the High school building and at Stanley's store.

Gather Milk Weed Pods

Goshen township schools gathered more than 2,000 pound of milk weed pods in the recent campaign. This is enough to make 113 life jackets.

The Freshman class secured the most and will be served a lunch prepared by members of the Home Economics club.
